

ONION BUNCHING PARAGON

PARAGON is still the industry standard in New Zealand for bunching onion production.

PARAGON has vigorous growth, dark blue/green leaves and shiny white stems which make for an attractive contrast.

The versatility of PARAGON allows for year-round use while its vigour makes it a particularly good choice for winter production.

The quality of PARAGON is best illustrated under adverse conditions when its uniformity, upright habit and tolerance to bulbing are evident.
